Midwest StrikeCitizens Committee In St.
Louis Starts Attempt To End Rail StrikeTIEUP IS COSTING MILLIONS DAILY
(BULLETIN)ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12.— (INS)—Representatives of four striking railroad brother-hoods agreed to meet today with a newly-organized citizens committee in the first attempt to end the crippling strike on the Missouri Pacific line.A representative of the struck railroad also is expected to attend the meeting which is scheduled for two p. m. (CDT) in St. Louis.The citizens committee was organized yesterday with the announced intention of bringing about the resumption of negotiations between the railroad and the strike brotherhoods.Temporary chairman of the committee is Dr. Elmer E. Hilpert, professor of constitutional law at Washington university in St. Louis.Industries Curtail
Many industries in the 11 states served by the railroad were expected to curtail operations today as the crippling walkout continued.Industries and communities along the Mopac's 7,200-mile system were expected to feel the brunt of the strike for the first time today as factory operations were resumed after the week end.The operating workers, members of four railroad brotherhoods, walked off the job last Friday afternoon. Another 22,000 men were laid off by the railroad because of the strike. Only a few employees were kept on hand for emergency and maintenance work.Trucking firms in the 11 states through which the struck railroad runs were looking forward to heavy business during the strike.
Many industries fed by the Mopac already have engaged trucking firms to handle necessary shipments.Losing Millions Railroad officials said that the loss to the nation's economy could be estimated at millions of dollars a day during the rail tieup.The loss to striking workers was estimated at $200,000 a day in wages, and the loss in revenue for the railroad ran as high as a half million dollars a day.But the greatest loss is expected to be borne by the industries and the 1,100 communities affected by the strike.PA
NEW OBSERVESMany folks apparently are reluctant to give up summer. Numerous outdoor picnics were noted throughout the district on Sunday afternoon despite the fact that it was rather cool weather.No frost has as yet occurred but leaves in the forests and other wooded spots are beginning to show many colors. Some brilliant reds are to be noted in the early colorings.From the multitude of homes being erected in the rural districts of western Pennsylvania, it seems that the housing shortage should be overcome in the not too distant future.Street lights have been erected on the Highland Heights hill from the end of Highland avenue to the Walmo road intersection at the top of the hill in Neshannock township. The lights are expected to be turned on tonight.There will be a total eclipse of the moon Oct. 6. It will be inter-

New Union Township Fire Siren Tower

Pictured above is the fire siren tower of Union township as firemen hoist the siren into place. The siren weighs 250 pounds and is operated by a 220 volt line. The tower, which is 65 feet high, is located in a field near Union High school on Scotland Lane. This location is the future site of the proposed fire station for the volunteer company. The siren will be operated from two alarm boxes, one at Union High school and the other at the station. Fire Chief, Jerry Ammons said that they expected to test the siren sometime this week after power lines have been installed. The siren is one that was purchased from the city and was used at Mahoningtown as a black-out siren during the war.Trenton Girl

OF FACT-FINDERSWASHINGTON, Sept. 12.— (INS)—Philip Murray is expected today to put a price on a continued strike truce already accepted by steel's "big five."Washington labor sources said Murray and CIO steelworkers probably would go along with President Truman's request for extension of the truce until "at least Sept. 25" but would insist first that some definite lines of discussion for possible strike settlement be established.Consider Truce Murray puts President Truman's request for the truce extension beyond the Wednesday strike deadline before his CIO Steelworkers' Union wage and policy committee today in Pittsburgh.Murray hung up a terse "no eve of the strategy meeting.PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12.—

ray of the United Steelworkers met in Pittsburgh today with his 36-man executive board to discuss the 10-days-an-hour package social insurance and pension program suggested by the president's fact-finders.Murray marched sternly into the meeting room and who also heads the CIO, will take the executive board's decision before the union's 170-this afternoon at 2 p. m. for U. S. Steel's President Benjamin Fairless wired his acceptance to the president after two other leading steel producers, Inland and Bethlehem, had acceded to the request. Republic Steel and Jones and Laughlin also agreed and acceptance by 50 other producers was a foregone conclusion.The Washington sources pointed out today that Fairless and the other steel executives complied with President Truman's original truce request on a reluctant note.

At that time, big steel explained a fact-finding report would carry the weight of public opinion.It was held most unlikely that Murray's union would reject outright a truce extension under such circumstances.Vital Stake Industry and labor over the country have a vital stake in the outcome of the steel situation.The fact-finders ran up a stop signal in front of a fourth-round wage hike on the grounds that it would have "an adverse effect" on U. S. economy. Murray had asked a "12 and one-half cent an hour

Enola Legion Post Is Robbed

ENOLA, Pa., Sept. 12.—(INS)—Two armed bandits yesterday robbed the Clifford D. Bryner American Legion post of Enola, Pa., of $1,500 after setting up drinks for the house and playing four juke box tunes.

The juke box bandits, dressed in army clothes and wearing white handkerchiefs, forced three departing patrons to re-enter with them.

They furnished 22 calibre rifles and lined nine patrons and employees against a wall. Then they dropped four nickels in a juke box, poured drinks for all and lifted $1,500 from a cash register and change box.

Police Chief John Snoderly said the robbers apparently were the same ones that burglarized three suburban Harrisburg establishments Friday night.

Televising Of World Series In Movies Seen

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(INS)—Widespread televising of World Series baseball games in motion picture theaters was presaged today by the closing of a deal between the Fabian Fox theater in Brooklyn and the office of Baseball Commissioner Chandler.

The theater, it was revealed today, has bought the exclusive Video rights in Brooklyn for a sum estimated at "around $10,000."

As the Brooklyn movie house announced that it will reproduce all the games on its screen, starting in the first week of October, other theaters were reported dickering for similar regional rights.

pension and social insurance programs which would cost management about 10 cents an hour, instead of the 30 cents an hour for the steelworkers' overall demands.

Thus, the report was generally regarded as giving the edge to management.

Whether the steelworkers would heed the fourth round hike red flag was the big question.

A failure to settle on some overall pattern could conceivably send the nation spinning into the same kind of strike vortex it experienced just after World War II.

CONTINUE RUBBER STRIKE
AKRON, O., Sept. 12.—(INS)—Striking CIO rubber workers, disappointed in the results of the President's steel fact-finding board investigation, continued their strike at the B. F. Goodrich Co. today.

The steel board recommended a company expenditure of about 10 cents an hour for pensions and a health plan, but recommended no pay raise. Officials had hoped that the report would set the pattern for the rubber industry as well as steel.

priority. She said they've been going together for five years, but are not engaged.

To Go Back To School
Jacque, whose real first name is Jacquelyn, is sure she wants to go back to school—her second year. That's hurdle No. 2.

At that, she already has a movie offer.

Her father, Arthur L. Mercer, revealed he has received a telegram from Warner Brothers offering the teen-aged charmer a movie contract. But Poppa Mercer added:

"She will enter movies if she has the chance and it meets with the approval of the contest directors. But first she is going back to school."

While Jacque was still pinching herself to make sure the honors were not a dream, she faced a full schedule.

Today Miss America appeared at the Waldorf Astoria hotel in New York in connection with an automobile display. Tomorrow she will "guest star" on a radio broadcast.

Thursday Jacque will fly to Milwaukee for a sports carnival and Saturday will return to New York. Another sports carnival is scheduled in California on September 22.

With her title went a $5,000 scholarship, a $3,000 auto and several contracts for personal appearances.

As soon as she finishes her second year at Phoenix, she'll go to Stanford university and study dramatics. The nation's prettiest girl says she will wait for Prince Charming there.

MISS MARTHA MILLS WEDS PREBLE COBB

One of the season's prettiest weddings took place Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Calvary Gospel Tabernacle. In a setting of white flowers and candlelight, Miss Martha Mills, foster-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Welker of R. D. 3, Wilmington road, became the bride of Preble Cobb of Cambridge, Mass., son of Mrs. Charles Cobb and the late Charles Cobb of Cambridge.

Rev. Raymond J. Fredericks of Medina, N. Y., former pastor of the Tabernacle, officiated at the double ring ceremony before a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

The church altar was beautifully banked with feathery cybotium ferns and southern palms. Lighted cathedral candles were in the seven branched graduated candelabra among the foliage. In the center, a vase of gorgeous white gladioli and white budleia completed a perfect setting for the occasion.

The bride, given in marriage by J. B. Welker, was beautiful in her gown of white slipper satin. A period model, the gown was designed with a net yoke and a bustle effect. Her net veil of fingertip length was scalloped and fastened to a satin cap, embroidered with seed pearls. She wore matching satin mitts. She carried a white Bible as a gift of the groom while her small bouquet was of white gardenias and carnations with streamers of stephanotis attached. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played on the organ by Mrs. Homer Emery, little Cathy Fox, cousin of the bride, came down the aisle attired in a gown of yellow Nylon net over satin with matching bonnet and mitts, carrying a colonial bouquet.

Mrs. Grace Griffiths served as matron of honor and was attired in a gown of pink net over satin with matching headress and carried a colonial bouquet.

Charles Cobb Jr. of Cambridge, Mass., served his brother as best man, with James and Dick Welker serving as ushers.

Mrs. Emery presided at the organ, providing 30 minutes of traditional wedding music prior to the ceremony. Rev. Fred Lindblad of Syracuse, N. Y., accompanied by Mrs. Emery at the organ, sang, "Because," "Love Shall Abide." As a consecration hymn, Mr. Lindblad sang "Have Thine Own Way Lord."

Immediately following the church rites, a beautiful garden reception took place for 75 guests at the home of the Welkers in Neshannock township. White candles, garden flowers and a tiered wedding cake formed the decorations for the beautiful setting. Mrs. Hilda Fredericks poured.

Joel Darby, accomplished accordionist of Syracuse, N. Y., provided appropriate music for the reception. A wire recording was taken of the entire ceremony and color motion pictures of the wedding and reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Cobb left following the reception for the Cobb summer cottage at Cape Cod, Mass., where they will spend their honeymoon.

Mrs. Cobb graduated from New Castle High school with the class of '41 and the Practical Bible Training school of Binghamton, N. Y., class of '47. At present, she is corresponding secretary of the Christian Home League of Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. Cobb graduated from Cambridge High school and attended Massachusetts State university. At present, he is field representative and member of the Board of the Christian Home League.

Jason Sines of 1509 East Washington street, and Paul W. Cook, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Philip P. Cook of Rochester, N. Y.

The young couple exchanged vows during the candlelight ceremony at 7:30 p. m. Dr. J. Paul Graham, pastor of the church, officiated using the single ring ceremony. Palms, ferns and early fall flowers embanked the altar and lighted candelabra were placed on either side of the altar.

Prior to the ceremony organist Kathryn Newberry presented a brief period of organ nuptial music. Soloist Earl Hammond sang three selections, "Because," "O Promise Me," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a white lace ballerina length dress with long sleeves tapering at the wrists, a bolero jacket and a full skirt daintily edged with lace. She wore a small white feather hat and carried a cascading bouquet of white roses. As her only jewelry she wore a strand of pearls.

Miss Lois Beard, the maid of honor, wore a dusty rose lace dress, fashioned in the ballerina style with short sleeves. She wore long brown gloves, a small brown feather hat and a single strand of pearls. Her cascading bouquet was of talisman roses.

Raymond Cook of Rochester, N. Y., served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were James Griswold of New York City, Frank Miller and Jay Sines, the latter being a brother of the bride.

A congratulatory period followed in the church immediately after the ceremony. The wedding reception for guests numbering 200 was later held in the church basement.

ENTRENCHED BUREAUCRACY

Proof that the mills of reorganization of the federal government are grinding slow, and not too fine, is contained in comments by head bureaucrats in Washington.

The Hoover Commission report recommended sweeping changes in the machinery of federal government to raise its efficiency and lower the cost of operating it. The report was presented four months ago. Now, the last of 49 departments and agencies have sent communications to Senator McClellan, chairman of the Senate Expenditures Committee.

Very few of them fall into the category of "why we like the Hoover report in 50 words or less." The shortest comment was one typed page. The longest covered 94.

With remarkable consistency the respondents approved recommendations for increases in salaries, increases in assistants, and increases in power. Otherwise the comments could only be roped off in such rough classifications as: like it a lot, six; like it pretty well, 15; will have no part of it, 21; no comment, two.

Quotes from the comments are illuminating. They ranged from "recommendations encroach on . . . time honored authority and power (of the agency)" to "the existing position (of this agency) has been satisfactory, and it is doubtful that it can be improved upon."

That last comment sketches the picture of the typically bureaucratic mind and the hopeless condition thereof. And until such time as this warped perspective and screwball thinking is rooted out, reorganization of the government will continue to be an if, when, and maybe proposition.

WE, THE PEOPLE

The Constitution of the United States was adopted 162 years ago. The now famous document which guarantees the blessings of liberty to increasing millions, was in little favor when it was signed on September 17, 1787, by representatives of 39 of the 55 states who had assembled in Philadelphia to form a government for a nation freed from the English yoke.

There was much criticism of those who did sign in the name of liberty and a free government.

During the intervening 162 years few changes have been found necessary. There have been 21 amendments, including the 10 in the Bill of Rights, adopted four years later. It has stood the test of courts of high and low degree, and never been found wanting.

The strength of the Constitution begins with the purposes for which it was written and adopted. There was nothing of selfishness in its concept, no thought of personal privilege, so often sought in these later days.

"We, the people of the United States," it begins. And for the people of the United States, the whole people, it has stood, and will continue to stand as long as it is defended by those whose interest it was first conceived.

Today the Constitution of the United States remains the sole bulwark of personal liberty in a world more slave than free.

AN IMPORTANT WEEK

By act of Congress the week of October 2 has been designated as "Hire the Handicapped Week," opening a year's campaign in behalf of jobs for those who are physically deficient.

In recent years, especially since the end of the war, it has been discovered that many of these handicapped persons are able to do various kinds of work as well as the able-bodied. President Truman is giving the movement his support, working at it, he explains, from both ends.

By that he means that he is urging industry to install more safety plans and improved machinery to cut down the number of industrial accidents. In that he is being joined by the National Association of Machinists and other labor organizations. It is asserted that thousands are injured unnecessarily every year because of their own carelessness or the carelessness of others.

The government is taking a prominent part in the program which the public is being invited to join. With a current appropriation of $30,000,000 to finance the program, 60,000 additional physically handicapped were given jobs last year. Under an enlarged effort to start in October it is hoped to double that number next year.

Nor is the government's interest entirely without ulterior motive. It is estimated that for every dollar the government spends in rehabilitation it gets $10 in income taxes from those given employment.

Washington spending taxes the imagination but unfortunately it taxes the pocketbook, too.

An Australian fly can travel a mile a minute. But the American species which sits is the real pest.

The monument some modern statesmen will deserve as a result of their efforts will be a great big bust.

Business is picking up throughout the nation. Moscow must be getting tired of waiting for the big bust.

Listening to the soap operas on the radio is bad enough, but just think how bad it will be when they all get on television—we will have to look at 'em!

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

The first real signs of Soviet fear that Marshal Tito's rampant nationalism may spread to other satellite states becomes evident. They took the form of an almost hysterical speech by Marshal Nikola Bulganin, top-ranking man in the Soviet armies, who addressed a Communist rally in Sofia and felt constrained to tell the Bulgarian people they can count on Russian aid "in any trial you may face in the future."

It was of utmost significance that Marshal Stalin chose Bulganin to make this speech and of equal import that he apparently devoted his whole address to branding Tito as a "Judas" and virtually calling upon the Yugoslav people to rise against him.

Handicapped Choice
Bulganin was the handicapped choice of Stalin to take his place as minister of the armed forces when advancing age and declining health compelled the Soviet dictator to relinquish some of his duties. He is now deputy premier and a politburo member.

While the speech was one of bitter reproach coupled with some bluster threats, in some respects it seemed to be almost a defensive one.

The 55-year-old marshal, who had a peculiar distinction of serving with the Russian Imperial Secret Police before he began his climb to political and military fame with the Bolsheviks, riveted attention on the fact that the political destinies of sixty million persons in the satellite nations are linked with Tito's.

They are the people of Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland and Romania.

Impact
Stalin's deputy obviously realizes that Tito's thus far successful defiance of the Kremlin must be having a terrific impact upon the dissatisfied rank and file in these countries.

He knows also that the Yugoslav dictator's position has been strengthened by a loan of 20 million dollars from the United States, the prospect of another 30 million dollars from London and the possibility of a really big grant.

NEWEST AMERICAN "REVOLUTION"

Have you heard about the new American revolution? It's over babies. Brainy women—college and high school graduates—are the instigators and participants. This revolution has been on since 1940. "Revolution in Birth Rates" is the title of the July issue of Population Bulletin edited by Guy Irving Burch.

"Between 1940 and 1947," he says, "the reproduction of women college graduates increased 81% compared to an increase of only 29% for women who had completed only five years of grade school."

"This something new in birth rates in the United States, and the trend will have to continue for a much longer time if the size of families of the more highly educated is to equal that of the poorly educated." The replacement rate of women with less than five years of grade school was still 87% higher in 1947 than for women college graduates, though it was 165% higher in 1947.

Census Reports
Burch also found from the census reports that women with one to three years of college, and high-school graduates made the second and third largest gains in rate of reproduction. If this trend continued during the record baby crop of late 1947, 1948 and early 1949, the more highly educated mothers (Continued on Page Nine)

Government experts have succeeded in getting gasoline from coal and will now take up the other part of the problem getting coal from Lewis.

John has bituminous output down to three days a week, and we're in no hurry to see him get his hands on the gas pumps.

We've gotten so used to saying "fill 'er up," it would take a long time to get accustomed to saying "I'd like to order a gallon for next week if it's OK with Mr. Lewis."

The gas-from-coal is not on the market yet and Texaco will be given a decent opportunity to change its brand from "Sky Chief" to "Mine Chief."

Quill handling public transportation, Lewis, gasoline, and Reuther, automobiles, there's a parlay that could put us back on our feet.

Folks Of Fame

Floyd Gibbons, one of the most famous war correspondents of all time, was born in Washington, D. C. July 16, 1887. After traveling with the forces of Pancho Villa during the Mexican revolution (1915), he accompanied Gen. John J. Pershing's punitive expedition into Mexico. While "covering" in World War I, the battle of Chateau-Thierry, he was wounded, losing an eye. He was also aboard the liner Laconia when it was torpedoed and sunk. Later he reported the beginning of the Sino-Japanese war for the Hearst news papers. He died September 24, 1939, as he was preparing to leave for Europe to report on the battle fronts there in World War II. Two of his best known books were "The Red Knight of Germany" (1927) and "The Red Napoleon" (1929).

of 250 million dollars from the International Bank.

And as an old experienced Bolshevik imperial gumshoe and arch-conspirator, he is not blind to the knowledge of how quickly a popular movement can spread once it is given proper impetus.

His own "Cheka" and the czar's entire army in the days of Nicholas could not stem the tide of uprising that started in 1905 when imperial troops opened fire on a rioting mob in St. Petersburg and reached its climax in 1918.

Hitherto, the attacks on Tito and his self-styled "nationalistic communism" have been the almost exclusive province of the controlled Soviet press and radio.

Spoke As Voice Of Stalin
Bulganin, however, spoke as the voice of Stalin and his speech is full of proof of the apprehension being felt by the Kremlin.

So far as anyone has been able to determine, the monolithic structure of the Soviet state itself is in no danger of collapse.

But the satellite system is a (Continued on Page Nine)

The World and the Mud Puddles

THE BROAD HIGHWAY

The opening in time for Labor Day of a nineteen mile stretch of the Lincoln highway between Chambersburg and Gettysburg completes a program of improvement that has been under way ever since March, 1947, and brings that part of the pioneer traffic artery lying in Pennsylvania to the peak of condition. With the extension of the famous Turnpike both east and west, and soon to reach both borders of the state, Pennsylvania will have a "concrete" asset of immeasurable value.

A system of all weather highways is one of the greatest factors contributing to the economic progress, a fact which was not realized until the bicycle became a popular vehicle. Previously township road supervisors would fill in a hole when it became hub deep or would shore up a covered bridge when it tottered with age, but when the roads became impassable, as was often the case, farm produce failed to reach the market, country doctors could not make their rounds and farmers could not get to town for their mail and supplies, for there was no rural delivery.

In Gay Nineties
One of the highlights of the gay nineties was the bicycle craze, resulting in the formation of a national association known as the League of American Wheelmen, which started a vigorous campaign for better roads. This organization even furnished thousands of small aprons, or chest protectors, emblazoned with the motto "We want good roads," and worn on horses, suspended from the breastband of the harness. There is little doubt that the horses were heartily in favor of the idea. The movement showed slow but steady progress until the advent of the automobile gave it an impetus that rendered further propaganda unnecessary for the desirability of improved highways was accepted as a self evident fact.

The Romans were fully aware of this, and when they moved in on the half savage people of Central Europe, Britain, their armies, with the conscripted labor of the inhabitants built substantial roads as they advanced, assuring themselves of uninterrupted communication with their bases. The more important of the Roman roads had a stone foundation for feet deep, and on this were laid heavy slabs of marble nearly a foot in thickness, roughened to prevent slipping.

Hitler's superb system of strategic military roads, constructed under the very eyes of complaisant allies, enabled him to launch the blitzkrieg into Poland, Austria and Hungary, and shook the world to its foundation.

Our own magnificent network of highways, the finest and most extensive in the world, amply justified itself in the efficient movement of troops and materials during the late war, and its improvement and development will pay better dividends than all the so-called welfare projects the government may conjure up.

It may be significant that in ancient times high walls were built to keep men apart, while broad roads were constructed to bring men together. Now the walls have crumbled to dust but the roads still remain.

A.D.A. Situation And 1950

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 12.—Liberals are supposed to believe in the two-party system, but sometimes they have trouble proving that they really do. "Americans for Democratic Action" is the most successful liberal organization in the country. It is powerful and in many respects praiseworthy. Last year ADA supported Rep. Jake Javits, a New York Republican, who quipped that he needed ADA support only as much as ADA needed him. Javits was a point-with-pride example of ADA bipartisanship. In other words, ADA was 99-44/100 per cent "pure" Democratic and only 56/100 Republican. This little splash of GOP impurity was then about the only ADA way of proving that it favored the two-party system.

Things Have Changed
But things have changed a little since then, perhaps in preparation for the 1950 campaign. In a forthright effort to stand up for bipartisanship, ADA reached into the discard and made Charles M. LaFollette its national director at $12,000 a year. LaFollette, a former Republican representative from Indiana, was defeated when he tried to climb to the U. S. Senate in 1946. Since then he has served as deputy chief counsel in the German war criminal trials and also with the military government in Germany. He is a liberal Republican of high standing, and could do a lot to help ADA rise above the narrow partisanship which it officially frowns upon.

But this is going to be a tough job. The top echelon of ADA officialdom is packed with practicing Democrats. National chairman is Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey. Two of the vice presidents are Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and Gov. Chester Bowles of Connecticut. Another vice president is Murray D. Lincoln, of Ohio, who is itching to unseat Sen. Taft in the coming election. Lincoln, from all accounts would prefer the Democratic nomination. But he is a registered Republican, born and raised in far-off Massachusetts. This makes him highly suspect as an interloper among native-born Ohio Democrats.

Other Impediments
ADA has a couple of other impediments which stand in the way toward impartial liberalism. Like all groups which assert their own virtue, ADA often comes close to grishness. The old Kipling-like warning against the temptation to "look too good or talk too wise" arises here. In its published program, ADA sets forth its stand on various national and international issues, using a 29-page pamphlet to do so. At the end of the manifesto is a printed slip which offers membership at $3 a year. The only requirement is the signing of a pledge which reads: "I subscribe without reservation to the principles stated above." It is hard to reconcile the phrase "without reservation" with any form of liberal thinking. Either the phrase is meaningless, or it is an expression of self-righteous totalitarianism.

In this same pamphlet ADA makes only one implied criticism of Mr. Truman. This occurs in a rather stuffy reprimand to the president for not maintaining better "liaison" between his administration and the "liberal forces." The complaint seems to imply that Mr. Truman has "mandate" from ADA. It also raises the question of how much ADA is demanding of the president. If his ultra-liberal policies do not satisfy the organization, what will?

Little Less Than Consistent
Again, like too many self-constituted oracles, ADA is inclined to be a little less than consistent. The organization favors practically all the give-away federal programs. It is for free medical care, farm subsidies, housing subsidies and government-guaranteed electrical power. All these require a growth of federal control. But they also tend to bring about federal censorship, in the form of loyalty programs and secret police work. ADA is dead against these.

Here are some of the challenges which ADA faces as it grids for the 1950 campaign. They are the challenges and the penalties of power and accomplished most of its aims by swinging along with the triumphant Democratic party. But the dangers of blind partisanship are quite evident. The only real liberalism lies in the two-party system. Luckily ADA seems to know that it must give more than lip-service to the bipartisan ideal. Otherwise this group's usefulness to the country and to its own liberal principles will be lost. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Great Game Of Politics

Truth And The People

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. CONCERNING the conversations which started here last week between high officials of this country and Great Britain over the critical situation due to the latter's "dollar shortage," there is almost unanimous agreement on the basic realities among the informed and understanding in both nations.

FOR example, it is agreed, first, that unless there is prompt action a major British economic collapse is inevitable; second, that such a collapse not only would affect adversely our own economy but would nullify the beneficial effect of the Marshall plan, thus playing directly into the hands of the Soviet forces whose aggressive policies we oppose as a national menace; third, it would weaken the Western Alliance we have set up and threaten our national security all along the line. In brief, it is as vital to us to stabilize the British situation as it is to the British. No serious economic injury could afflict one without unfortunate effect upon the other.

THE statistical facts upon which these conclusions are based are not open to question. Both the American and British technicians, who have been working together here for some weeks, are in complete accord. With them it is not a question of being "almost unanimous." On the statistical facts they have achieved complete unanimity. On the statistical facts no other result is possible. Under such conditions, there would seem no sound reason the top officials should not agree quickly upon the salutary steps to be taken in our mutual interest. It is easy to see how there can be some difference as to detail but, intricate as are the problems, it is not easy to see how there can be any difference as to direction. Unhappily, however, it is not as simple as that. If the men who must decide also could put their decision into swift operation, it would be fine. That is not possible under the democratic form of government which prevails here and in Britain. Our leaders lack unlimited authority. Here is one of the most far-reaching decisions men have been called upon to make in our history. It would be ideal, indeed, if they could concentrate exclusively upon the wise and right thing to do. But unpleasant political facts compel them to consider how far they can go in the desirable direction without losing congressional support and arousing adverse public sentiment.

THERE will be danger of that throughout this momentous meeting. The reason lies in the barren state of the public mind, which is reflected in Congress. When, one states, as above, that there is "almost unanimous agreement" among the "informed and understanding," it also should be stated that the "informed and understanding" are an infinitesimal fraction of the whole. The great bulk of the people are utterly ignorant and indifferent. Not in 50 years has there been an issue about which they know so little or cared less. Hundreds of explanatory editorials and columns have been written, some very wise and helpful, others by men who obviously are not themselves clear in their thinking. Also, there have been articles, speeches and statements on both sides of the ocean. And, there has been propaganda pro and con.

THE trouble about all this is that it has been miles over the popular head. It has not illuminated the subject; it has just bored and bewildered the people. Someone recently asserted that there are not twenty men in the entire Congress who can properly be classed as "informed and understanding" on this issue. As for the people generally, more than 90 per cent can be justly labeled "ignorant and indifferent." The danger of such a situation is that the susceptibility to demagoguery on the part of the people is about equal to the temptation to "demagoguery" on the part of the politicians. Thus, the small isolationist minority and the incurably anti-British individuals who infest so many communities have a great opportunity to spread misrepresentations and misunderstanding.

THAT a similar state of affairs exists in Britain was made clear by a recent London dispatch to the New York Times from the astute Mr. James Reston, who asserts that the British workman, with his pockets full of pounds, does not understand what the "dollar shortage" has to do with him and thinks it all nonsense. A somewhat similar feeling exists among the average British employers. "In short," says Mr. Reston, "while Sir Stafford Cripps is worried about earning more dollars, the average British employer and employee are not—and until that gap between official and unofficial thinking is filled, the dollar gap will not be either."

THE overwhelmingly important question is this—can the slender but "informed and understanding" minority induce support from the great "ignorant and indifferent" majority in this vital business or not? So far as this country is concerned, there have been numerous instances in which the "informed and understanding" failed to get that support; majority, disregarding facts and reason, went in the exact opposite direction. With no desire to be pessimistic about the current conference, it must be said that it is no easy thing to get the truth to the people on an issue such as this—nor to get them to respond when they get it. Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

You all know about Pompeii, that ancient city of Italy which was destroyed by ashes and pumice spewing from Mount Vesuvius in 79 A.D.

You know of its glamour and glory discovered when archeologists began to explore the ruins almost seventeen hundred years later and found that it had long been the very heart of Roman and Greek culture and civilization.

You may even have read the letters written by Pliny the Younger in which he told Tacitus about the death of Pliny the Elder, soldier and author, who perished in the city's disaster.

But there is another Pompeii of which you probably have never heard.

In this Pompeii, a little community of 300 in the State of Michigan, there also was a disaster just recently, and a hero also perished in that disaster.

Like many other places in our country poliomyelitis struck this little town of Pompeii in Michigan and eight youngsters became its victims.

A young doctor from Tulsa, Okla., had just taken over the practice of another physician who had died after 50 years of work in that little town.

A navy veteran of the last war, 27-year-old Dr. Karl E. Jones, Jr., labored day and night with these eight polio cases, and day and night he visited the people of Pompeii and nearby farmhands to keep the disease from spreading.

Exhausted from his labors, his resistance weakened, he himself contracted the dread disease.

He was rushed by ambulance to the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, where he died a week later.

No epic will be written about the hero named Karl Jones. No archeologists will ever explore the remnants of Pompeii, Mich., 1700 years from now, and if they did they would probably find little of great historical value.

They would unearth no magnificent palaces, no gold-encrusted villas like those the explorers found in that other Pompeii. They would find no Temple of Hercules, no Via Appia, lined with tombs of the famous and the wealthy.

But in the hearts of the citizens of that little Pompeii in Michigan there are monuments to a hero much greater than any that could be erected of metal or stone.

And in the hearts of millions all over the world there are monuments to their own unsung heroes—to the doctors who risked and often lost their own lives to save others; to the nurses who took similar risks; to the boys who went overseas and died to save their country; to the policemen and firemen who braved crime and flames and sometimes perished in the service of their fellow men.

There is a bit of the hero in every one of us.

For what is a hero but a human being willing and able to place service to others above his own self-interest?

Little Courtesies
make a good impression

On party-line telephones, too, courtesy pays dividends. Party-line neighbors who are courteous and considerate win the respect—and the cooperation—of others on the line.

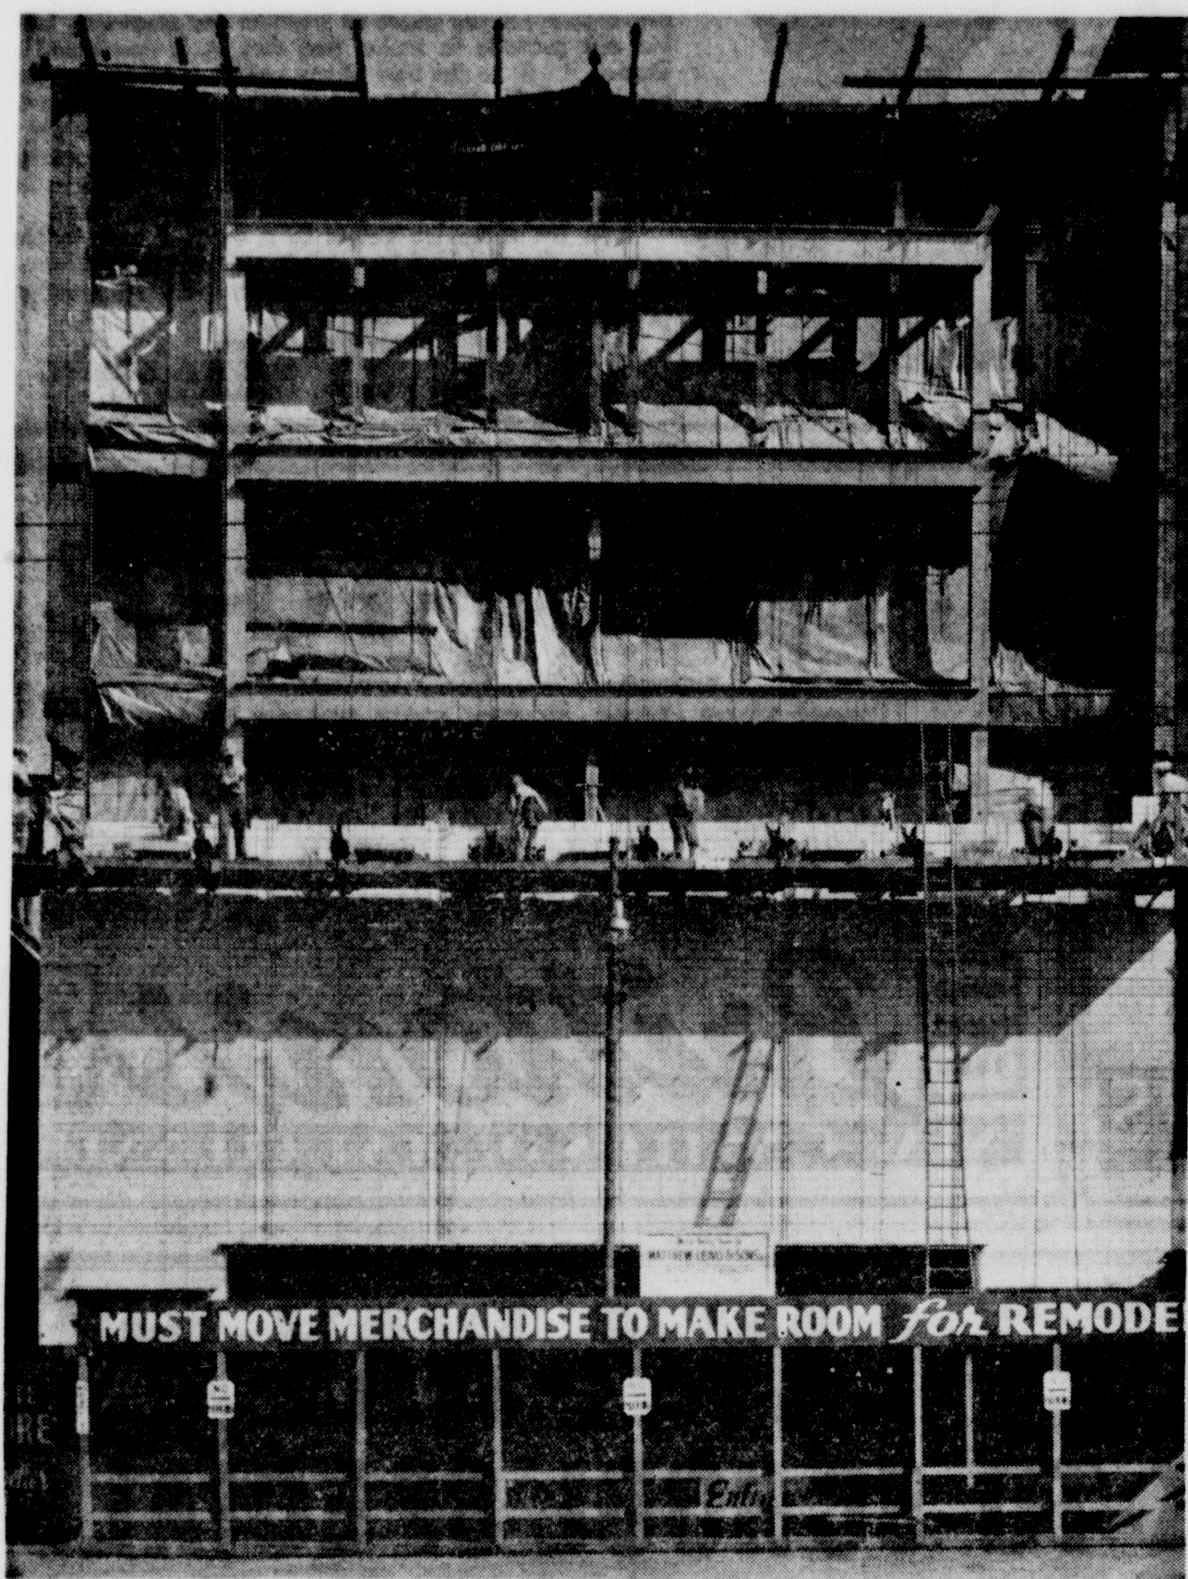

When, on finding the line in use, you hang up gently and give the other person a few minutes to finish his call before trying again, your courtesy is appreciated. And when, while talking, you realize that your neighbor is waiting to make a call, it will be appreciated if you'll hang up in a few minutes and free the line.

Courtesy does the trick!

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)
(Distributed By International News Service)

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass., Sept. 12.—No one, whether Republican or Democrat, has even taken a more fearless stand on the man-eating shark than I. I am unalterably opposed to this marauder of the deep and his nasty habit of nipping homo sapiens at sea.

The U. S. Air Force is also forcefully opposed to the man-eating shark. But I wish the air force had not brought up the subject at what seems to me a most unfortunate moment.

Any minute now, an efficient air force sergeant is going to prod me and some twenty-two other passengers onto a C-54 driven by the Military Air Transport Service and headed for Frankfurt-Am-Main.

At any time up to 30 minutes ago the sergeant would not have had to prod. We would have gotten on with a hop, skip and jump.

Palled Little Group
But we are a palled little group huddled together since the air force brought up the subject of the man-eating shark at the recent briefing on how we are to behave if—as the lecturer poetically put it—we get "ditched in the drink."

Well sir, the young man showed us all the rubber life rafts stowed aboard the plane and all the safety devices provided for our welfare.

My only worry at that moment was whether there would be any room for the passengers after the crew got the safety equipment aboard, including radar, radio, aeriels, torpedoes, remedies for mal-de-mer and a machine to make drinking water out of sea water.

Even my regret at abandoning my new shoes was only momentary when it was explained that high heels poked holes in rubber boats. In fact, it all sounded rather jolly, like a picnic at sea until the final thirty seconds, when the lecturer explained the charms of the Mae West.

In conclusion, he pointed to a little pouch on the right hand side of the vest.

"In case of need, you just pull this here packet of shark repellent and it will do the trick. Good-bye, and a pleasant trip," he concluded.

"Sharks," muttered the army doctor next to me in the briefing room. White as a ghost he was, too. "Are you sure it will do the trick?" the girl in the pink gingham dress asked. But the man was already out of hearing.

Still Game To Go
So we sit now, huddled over our luggage and shark repellent, but still game to go. Americans, I am certain, will go any place, any time, at the drop of a hat, sharks or no sharks. If necessary, we will eat the sharks first to get there!

Assignment America and I are on our way to Europe to see, in general, what is left of that continent after the summer invasion of American tourists, and in particular, to see the final days of one of the most amazing American feats in the nation's history, the airlift into Berlin.

As far as the legal hocus-pocus is concerned, it is a pure pleasure to travel to Europe today.

For the first time in my life, I have not had to spend my youth, beauty and temper in consular offices, waiting endlessly for visas, if World War II accomplished nothing else, it at least put the Indian sign on visas in countries this side of the iron curtain. At least, England, France, Luxembourg, Switzerland and Italy required none of me.

Aside from a special military permit to enter the U. S. zone of Germany, my passport is good for mileage on its own and at long last will take me where I want to go.

Kind of Wonderful, Too

It is kind of wonderful, too, not to have to line up for 79 kinds of inoculations, as was the case during the war if you went anywhere outside of Hoboken.

Of course, the armed forces has had its inning, since I am going to Germany. And once more I have been vaccinated for smallpox and inoculated against tetanus and typhoid.

But on the whole, going to Europe today is even easier than before World War II. Easier, that is, if you remember to take your own soap, nylons, other such accessories, and instant coffee (on account, I can't stand most furrin' coffee).

In signing off temporarily from the U. S. A., may I hope that when I get home the channel swimming is over, the World Series, ditto; guys are no longer sitting on flag poles; Mrs. Aly Kahn is back among the classified ads, Ingrid Bergman, ditto; there are no more cows in silos and the five per cent captains and clowns have departed from the front page, to say nothing of the generals.

Oops, the sergeant says to get in the C-54 on the double. Sharks, here I come, my American passport in one hand and the repellent in the other.

Street Lighting Improvement For Year Completed

With the completion of the street lighting installation on the Gardner avenue viaduct, New Castle's street lighting improvement program for this year is finished.

These lights are now in operation and a vast improvement is noted on the bridge. Special units were ordered to take care of the particular problems involved in lighting the roadway as well as the sidewalk, with the result that safety both in walking and in driving has been greatly improved on the viaduct.

It is expected that the new street lights being installed in the Highland Heights area of Neshannock township will be placed in service

Monday evening. The line crew installing the equipment has practically completed the job, and it is expected that it will be ready for final test this afternoon.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

will have made very substantial gains on the less educated ones. It may turn out the more highly educated women will have the highest recorded reproduction rate in a hundred years. Burch believes that the birth rates of the highly educated women will continue to gain on those of the less educated group.

The foregoing is amazing when compared with the college graduates of 1924, when women graduates failed to replace themselves by 40% and men graduates by 10%. Also the loss is approximately the same for the three preceding classes — 1921, 1922, 1923 — on through 1928. In 1940 the reproduction rate of women college graduates was 48% below replacement. Thus women college graduates were then having only half enough children to replace themselves and their husbands. High school graduates were having only three-quarters enough. On the other hand, women with grade school education or less were producing from 16 to 38 per cent more children than were needed for replacement. In spite of the marked changes in these relative rates since 1940, the less fortunate third of our population have been carrying far more than their share of the financial cost, worry and physical burdens of reproducing the race.

Family Limitations

Burch attributes this revolution in birth rates to the wider spread of knowledge on family limitations to all levels of the population. He cites studies from Stockholm in 1927 and from large cities of Germany in 1930 where knowledge of family-size control has been demonstrated, showing that the higher economic, social and educational groups actually have the largest families.

But there probably are other reasons. For some years scattered indications have appeared from questionnaires submitted to college and high school girls, that these women and girls usually hope to bear several children when they become wives. Parallel with the accumulating literature on the science and art of rearing children has developed the notion that being a good parent is a challenge very worthy of persons who consider themselves intelligent.

IN VIEW OF NEWS

jerrybuilt affair and insecure at its base. This is shown by the monotonous chant of Communist propagandists in all the satellite countries reminding the people of their alleged freedom while at the same time threatening them with dire punishment for the slightest infraction of dictatorial rules. Former Czechoslovakia, Jaromir Smutny of Czechoslovakia, who recently fled to exile in England, says that the increasing wave of arrests and executions in his homeland indicates the extent of popular discontent.

He said it was only the impatient ones who are trying to strike too soon and endangering themselves and that the time will come when the oppositionists are bound to arise in force and chase the Bear back across the horizon. It is interesting to note, incidentally, that Bulgarians wittingly or otherwise paid tribute to the innate piety of the Bulgarian people by referring to Tito as a "Judas."

There is nothing in the constitution of Soviet Russia or in the handbook of Soviet atheists that calls for use of a Biblecast in referring to a political enemy.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

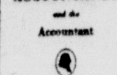

New stories about Tallulah Bankhead are more plentiful these days than bills after Christmas. John Emery, for instance, describing his brief but tempestuous marriage to the lady, recalls an argument they had with an inebriated guest at a Broadway restaurant. Emery silenced the man very neatly and quietly without resort to fisticuffs, but when he returned to his table, found that Tallulah did not approve his tactics at all. "You should have killed him," she announced, and unleashed a splendid left.

Another day she visited F.D.R. at the White House, and was ushered into his study just as a group of graduates from a girls' reformatory was being bowed out. Tallulah took in the girls' uniforms at a glance, and won the president's heart by declaring, "We're going to get along just fine. I see you like delinquent girls!"

A cub reporter on the Columbia Spectator announced, "Here's a wire saying our fencing team lost another match this evening." "Curse," said the editor. "Foiled again."

THIS RIDES DOGGONE GOOD

Electronic Device Hushes Dog Bark

MINNEAPOLIS—(INS)— Electronics is doing everything these days from bringing you television to keeping dogs from barking. When W. J. McGoldrick, head of the engineering department of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Company, had trouble with his dog yapping before sun-up, he solved the problem by electronics. He put together a microphone, an electronic amplifier from an automatic home heating control system, a heating plant valve and a nozzle from an oil burner. All of this was rigged up with the city water supply and installed in the doghouse with the microphone at muzzle height. Now when the pet barks to get out of his quarters, the microphone sends the sound to the amplifier; the amplifier boosts the signal and sends it to the valve; the valve opens and whish! — the dog gets a squirt of water in the face.

Ohio College Gets
Very Old Tusk

MARIETTA, O. (INS)—Officials at Marietta college won't mind at all if their gift is a little old—something a little over 200,000 years old.

The college will get the third ancient mammoth tusk to be found near Marietta, O., within the past year. The eight-foot long tusk was found by a shovel operator, Clyde M. Spung, at a depth of 25 feet.

Geology Department head Prof. Ralph W. Whipple said the tusk to a tusk found in a gravel pit along the Ohio river. The latest tusk has been broken into six pieces but the earlier one had only the tip broken off.

The first tusk, also uncovered by Spung, was a smaller one. Prof. Whipple said the large tusks were from hairy mammoths, or "Elephas Antiquus" and "Prinigenius" of the Pleistocene Age. The small one is a secondary one that some species developed.

Prof. Whipple said all the animals had floated down the Muskingum River and caught on a sand bar which have since been separated from the original course of the stream.

It is 200,000 years old. It is similar

Improvements Are Reported At First Methodist Church

Members Of Church Delighted At Improvements Noted On Sunday

Members of First Methodist church were delighted upon entering the sanctuary Sunday to find it had been re-carpeted during the previous week. This new carpet is part of the general rehabilitation program which is being carried out in First church. During the morning service the congregation stood in prayerful attitude, while the pastor, Rev. J. A. Gaiser, called upon Almighty God to bless this improvement to the church property.

In his prayer Rev. Gaiser asked that God might bless this carpet as a path on which the feet of men, women, young people, and boys and girls might be led to the saving knowledge of Jesus Christ.

During the church school hour a beautiful service of dedication took place in the junior department, where a new altar, a beautiful new cross and candle-sticks have been installed. This dedicatory service was entirely in the hands of members of the department. The candles were lighted by Shirley Sankey. Jack MacDonald opened the Bible and led the group in reciting the 24th Psalm. James Lutz then led in prayer.

This was followed by a piano solo by Judy Laurell. Louise Sankey, president of the junior department, then presented the altar for dedication; Richard Bowden gave the dedicatory prayer. Nancy Lieble led the group in a recitation of the 121st Psalm. Sue Carroll then presented the cross and candle-sticks as a memorial gift from J. Carl Miner in memory of his wife, who for many years gave her faithful service to this junior department as its superintendent.

The dedicatory prayer was given by Tommy Phillips. The group then recited the 23rd Psalm with Barbara Bloss as leader. David Holsapfel sang "The Lord's Prayer". Rev. Gaiser then spoke to the group and interpreted the symbolism of the altar. Members of the George R. Borden class were present for this service of dedication.

Prince Troubetzkoy Weds Wealthy Bride

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(INS)—Prince Youka Troubetzkoy, whose brother married dime store heiress Barbara Hutton, is honeymooning in New York today with a wealthy bride of his own, spark plug heiress Marcia Stranahan Idris.

The couple married yesterday in a quiet, double-ring ceremony in Greenwich, Conn. They had applied for a license in the fashionable New England town last Thursday, but kept the wedding date secret.

The groom is a "soap opera" actor. The bride is the daughter of Robert A. Stranahan, Champion Spark Plug company president. Her brother, Frank, is a famous golfer.

It was the third marriage for the twice-divorced Princess Marcia. She has been married previously to Howard Lewis, Jr., of Toledo, O., and Capt. Alvin Idris, a Toledo banker.

The Stranahans were the only members of either family present at the simple ceremony, conducted by Judge Charles B. Boles of Greenwich.

Prince Youka, who was born in Los Angeles, acted in American films, and appeared with such famous actresses as Pola Negri and Norma Shearer.

Deafness Explained In Free Booklet Available to Public

The answers to these questions—and many others—are found in an authoritative booklet, "Modern Science and Your Hearing," published by Western Electric. Much of the material it contains was supplied by Bell Telephone Laboratories, famous for their research in problems of sound and hearing.

It contains many comforting facts about what can be done to help the hard of hearing. Steel Workers Hear Senator From Minnesota

District 21 Picnic Attracts Thousands To Conneaut Lake Park Sunday

Hubert Humphrey, young U. S. senator from Minnesota, addressed several thousand members of the United Steelworkers of America, District 21, during their annual picnic Sunday at Conneaut Lake Park.

A large delegation of several hundred from the New Castle working district, headed by Jack Grizzle, CIO leader here, and other top labor men went to the north state amusement center for the gala event. The weather was perfect for the outing.

The former mayor of Minneapolis who held his outdoor audience spellbound as he spoke on the current aims of labor some of which have been attained while others are being fought for.

Mr. Humphrey pointed out the fact that it was a national disgrace and a shame that the great United States can only afford to pay old age pensions averaging $34.00 a month while the national average should be at least $100. He stated that some of the aims of organized labor are to improve the educational standards of our country which has four million boys and girls not in school because of insufficient teachers and school buildings.

"It is a blow to our morals and to that of the future generation," Mr. Humphrey pointed out. "The opposition says we can't afford it, which I say we can't afford to deprive them of their educational privileges."

Some of the aims depicted by the speaker as future plans of organized labor, consist of elimination of slums; soil conservation; continuation of rent controls; grain storage program; poll tax, anti-lynching act, employment and civil rights program. In referring to the Taft-Hartley act he stated, "It is a chain at the wrist of the laboring man and certainly encourages Communism and foes of our national economy."

The long program opened with a vaudeville act and treats for the children. The program got underway at 3:30 p. m. with speakers being heard. Regrets were read from David J. McDonald, International Secretary-treasurer of the United Steelworkers of America, who was unable to be present due to the steel negotiations in Washington. He sent greetings in his message.

An industrial display was arranged in the park ballroom with manufacturers of the northwestern state district exhibiting items that they manufactured in their plants.

Crucial Battle In Hunan Province To Get Under Way

CANTON, Sept. 12.—(INS)—Moslem Gen. Pai Chung-Shi was reported to have informed the Nationalist government today he is confident of victory in a crucial battle with the Communists expected to get under way in Hunan province within a week.

The Communists have massed 10 armies east of Yengyang on the approaches to Canton and are expected to launch their main drive on Anjen, 40 miles southeast of Yengyang.

Gen. Pai bases his confidence on a feeling that the people of Hunan support the Nationalists politically. In addition, he already has scored some minor victories, while considerable numbers of Nationalist soldiers who deserted to the Communists now have returned to the Nationalist ranks.

Reciprocal Trade Agreements Are Bitterly Attacked

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(INS)—Sen. Malone (R) Nev., bitterly attacked the reciprocal trade agreements bill today as designed to reduce the U. S. standard of living to that of "the low wage and slave labor of foreign nations."

Malone, in an address prepared for delivery in the Senate, opposed the administration bill with the assertion that there is no dollar shortage or "dollar problem in the world."

The Nevada was scheduled to make his speech today, but the Senate plans to recess immediately after convening out of respect to the late Supreme Court Justice Wiley B. Rutledge. Malone will make his speech tomorrow.

He charged that rather than a dollar problem, "there is a pound sterling problem. And there are also franc, guilder, and other foreign currency problems."

The first woman to go to work for the United States government (1862) was employed to cut and trim currency notes.

Local Red Cross home service director, Miss Gertrude Hoenstine, was called upon Saturday to contact a Pulaski family that was supposed to meet a displaced person from Yugoslavia, in Youngstown.

The displaced person, a Mr. Milajolorackozick, had arrived in Youngstown late in the afternoon, where he was supposed to be met by Mr. and Mrs. Ziajko Miroslaw, of Pulaski. Apparently a mistake had been made in the train times and Mr. Milajolorackozick was left in Youngstown without an idea in the world of where to go.

Miss Hoenstine contacted the Pulaski family, who had no phone, and arrangements were made with the priest of the Serbian Greek Orthodox church, of Farrell, who was sponsoring the DP, to hurry to Youngstown to meet him.

ENDORSE CANDIDATE JOSEPH (JOE) MEDURE for CITY COUNCIL

On The Democratic Ticket

On August 24 we advertised our endorsement of Joseph Medure, candidate for City Council on the Democratic Ticket. At this time we would like to tell you why:

We know Joseph Medure has fulfilled the responsibilities of many executive positions in labor and social organizations in New Castle. He also has shown great interest in our city government. In particular, Medure bitterly opposes the 1% city tax as an unfair burden on the average wage earner. He will actively support a plan to provide adequate playground facilities for your children, your neighbors' children, and also better baseball parks.

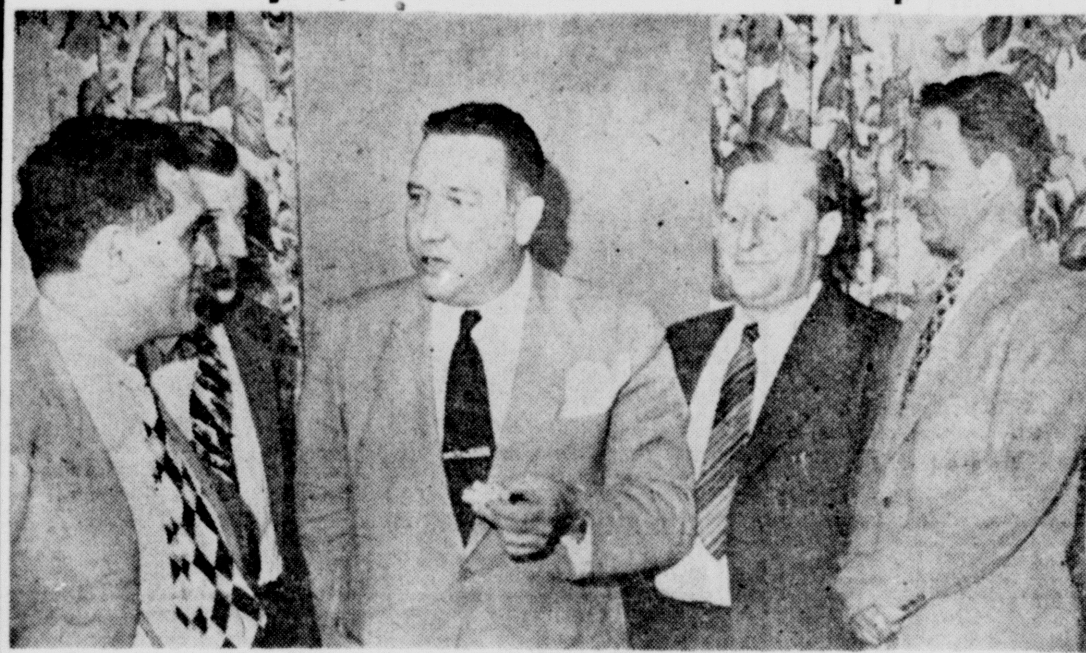

We believe that his experience in workingmen's organizations and his wide awake and sincere interest in taxpayers' problems qualifies Joe Medure for the office he seeks.

We urge you and your family and your friends to vote for JOSEPH MEDURE for City Council.

MUSONE DeCAPRIO EXCHANGE OF VOWS

A charming early fall wedding was solemnized at St. Vitus church on September 7 at 8 a. m. when Miss Lucy Musone, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Onofrio Musone of 8 Katherine street, became the bride of Ralph L. DeCaprio, son of Mrs. Lena Frank and Gregory DeCaprio of New Castle.

Vows were exchanged before an altar appropriately decorated with palms, and early fall flowers. Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita officiated at the double ring ceremony. Solemn nuptial selections were presented by the church organist.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Louis Kennedy of Campbell, O., the bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white slipper satin trimmed in Chantilly lace and styled with a scalloped neckline. Her fingertip veil of illusion was trimmed with Chantilly lace and caught to a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. The traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue was carried out, and her only jewelry was a gold cross. Lilies, white carnations and roses centered with orchids composed the bridal bouquet which was showered with streamers knotted with lilies of the valley.

Miss Ruth Kennedy, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She was attired in a gown of blue marquisette, fashioned with an illusion yoke and ruffled effect in back terminating at the waistline in a point. A large picture hat enhanced by a ruffle of Chantilly lace, complemented the costume. She carried an arm bouquet of roses and white mums tied with a matching ribbon.

Bridesmaids, the Misses Jerry Ricci, Jo Ann Ricci, Mary Luciana, Josephine McCormick, niece of the bride, and Donna Jean Mancine, cousin of the groom, were dressed identically in rainbow colored gowns, with matching head-dresses. They carried colonial bouquets of baby mums. Junior bridesmaids were Misses Patricia Musone, niece of the bride, and Mary Jane Carlo.

Little Andrea Carlo and Johnny Habib, Jr., were a miniature "bride and groom". Andrea's costume and bouquet were exactly like that of the bride's. Johnny Habib, Jr., nephew of the groom, wore a miniature tuxedo. Flower girls, Christina Rose Weir and Phillis Ann Campbell, wore orchid gowns trimmed in yellow.

Attending as best man was Michael J. Murar, Jr., Youngstown, O.; ushers were Robert Boak, Howard Gillett, John McCormick, Lawrence Fullwood and Clarence Gambell.

Immediately after the ceremony a breakfast was served in Casa Savoia hall on Mill street. Dinner was held at 1 p. m. in the same hall for 150 guests. At 7:30 a reception was held to approximately 500 guests in the King Humbert hall.

The bridal march was led by two cousins of the groom, the Scungio brothers.

The groom is now employed as chef at The Castleton hotel and the bride is employed at Shenango Pottery.

On their return from a short wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, they will reside at their home at 8 Katherine street.

MILDRED FELASCO WEDS C. SMARRELLI

Choosing the date of her parents' 29th wedding anniversary, Miss Mildred Carmencia Felasco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Felasco of 712 Wilmington avenue, became the bride of Carmen Eugene Smarrelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cesidio Smarrelli of 426 East Division street, on Thursday, September 8, in St. Joseph's church.

White gladioli, ferns and palms embellished the altar where the young couple were united in marriage. Rev. Fr. Cornelius Becker, pastor of the church, officiating. He used the double ring ceremony. Miss Clare Duff was the church organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractive in a gown of oriental pure silk satin, with sheer yoke and off shoulder effect, trimmed with heirloom Belgium lace. Her bertha collar ended with a chapel train and the full skirt fell from a basque waist with panniers on either side. Her imported fingertip veil with bonnet lace was made of imported Belgium lace. She carried a spray of white orchids with stephanotis and streamers and wore a gold cross, a gift of the bridegroom's mother.

Miss Edith Smarrelli, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, wore a gown of gold satin with cape sleeves. Her half-bonnet of gold satin and matching mitts completed her accessories. She carried a bouquet of yellow and bronze baby mums.

Misses Dolores Genevieve and Gloria Rotz, the latter a niece of the bridegroom, wore baby green satin gowns and headresses similar to the maid of honor. Their bouquets were of yellow baby mums.

Fred Smarrelli served his brother as best man. Philip Dellaquardi and Louis W. Meleto were ushers.

Following the church ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the home of the bridegroom's parents. White gladioli were used as the table centerpiece. Aides in pouring were Mrs. Elizabeth Meleto, Mrs. Joseph Scillo and Mrs. Guy Francis.

At noon a dinner for 150 guests was served at a Croton avenue dining room. The evening reception included 300 guests and music was provided by a local orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Smarrelli departed on a wedding motor trip to the southlands of New Orleans and Florida. The couple received many gifts which are displayed at the bride's home, 712 Wilmington avenue, where they plan to reside upon their return.

Mrs. Smarrelli, a graduate of New Castle high school, is employed at the Johnson Bronze company.

Mr. Smarrelli is a graduate of New Castle high school and Robert Morris School of Business, and is at present employed as junior accountant with the Philip Weiner company.

On Sunday, September 11, Miss Ann Buntman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Buntman, of 1512 Hamilton street, became the bride of Emanuel Levine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elec Levine of Cleveland, O. Scene of the wedding was the Tifereth Israel Synagogue. Rabbi Julius Lipschutz officiated, assisted by Rev. Benjamin Miller. The ceremony was performed under a canopy of red velvet and gold fringe.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Maurice Slavovskiy accompanied Cantor William Katz of Cannons-Club '48, who sang "Oh, Promise Me" and "Because".

Columnist Says Barkley To Marry

Vice President, However, Fails To Confirm Report Printed In Chicago

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. — (INS)—Vice President Barkley will call the reporters in and tell them "if and when" the wedding bells are set to ring for him and Mrs. Carleton Hadley.

The 73-year-old "Veep's" promise came as he commented on a report by a Chicago columnist that he and the attractive 37-year-old St. Louis widow will announce plans to marry "in the near future."

Columnist Irv Kupcinet said that the announcement would be made soon at a reception to be held in St. Louis.

All this reaction to the genial "Veep," whose romantic association with the winsome Mrs. Hadley has warmed the hearts of millions of Americans.

Barkley said he did not even know the columnist.

His first reaction to the report when it was read to him by telephone was to chuckle. Then he grew serious and declared:

"If and when anything like that happens, I will call the press and they will not have to put their bloodhounds on me."

Barkley flew into Washington late Sunday night from a Democratic picnic in Chicago. It was not until he got home that the latest report caught up with him.

In St. Louis Mrs. Hadley, after listening by telephone to the item, laughed and explained that she had no comment to the latest conjecture, like so many others of the past weeks.

Kupcinet writes in the Chicago Sun-Times. He described the "Veep" and Mrs. Hadley as "America's most romantic couple."

The columnist said that Barkley and the St. Louis widow "have agreed they're meant for each other."

PARTY ETIQUETTE

"Thanks you very much for the reply to my previous letter. It was a great help. If I may, I would like to ask you many more questions, as I am full of them: (1) How does one look for his place card? (2) If a gentleman is with a lady, does he, or may he, assist her to find hers? (3) If there are no place cards, how are the guests to know their places? (4) Are guests all supposed to wait for the hostess to be seated before taking their places? (4) If a gentleman is not with the lady next to him, may he offer to pull her chair out?"

Answer: (1) The hostess in a private home or the attendant in a hotel dining room should show you approximately where your place card is. If there is no one to show you, you must then find it yourself by going around the table until you see it.

(2) If you have a woman companion, you should seat her first.

(3) When a dinner or luncheon is informal, there are usually no place cards, in which event, the hostess indicates where guests are to sit.

(4) Yes, wait for the hostess to be seated.

(5) Yes, a gentleman should pull out the chair of the woman next to him even if he is not her escort.

Question: Please tell me whose wine glass should be filled first—that of the guest-of-honor or that of the host?

Answer: A thimbleful should first be poured into the glass of the host or the hostess, if there is no host. Then the guests are served, after which the waitress fills the host's glass. Wine glasses should never be more than about three-quarters filled.

Cebu City for stealing fish from the family larder.
Authorities say the incident occurred when the boy, Daniel Laag attempted to obtain food for his ailing eight-year-old sister.
The sister, Florencia, told police the uncle discovered the theft, hanged Daniel from a tree and ignited a pile of dried coconut leaves beneath the child.
Police said the uncle claimed the hanging was intended as a disciplinary measure.
The uncle was placed in custody to prevent him from being lynched by an angry mob.

GARDEN NOTES

House plants should be brought indoors so that they may get accustomed to the drier air while the windows are still open.

When storing dahlia bulbs leave as much earth on them as possible. Cut the stems to about two inches in length and turn them upside down for the winter. Conditions which will keep potatoes sound are suitable for dahlia roots.

Now is the time to get ready for storing vegetable crops. Those to be stored should be of good quality, medium sized, clean, dry, and free from disease and insects.

The storage cellar should never be so damp as to cause condensation of moisture on the walls or vegetables.

Pick gourds before they are touched by frost. Cut the stems about two inches from the fruit and handle carefully to prevent bruising. Waxing with floor wax is better than shellac for obtaining a glossy sheen.

Tuberous-rooted begonias are not very easy to carry over the winter but if an attempt is made to do so they should be dug as soon as their foliage has been nipped by frost. Free them from the soil when they have become somewhat dry in an airy, protected place, and store them where the air is neither too moist nor too dry.

RIO DE JANEIRO—Archer fish literally hunt their prey by shooting water from their mouths, wetting the insects and knocking them from the air into the water.

GRADUATION TO OCCUR FRIDAY

Baccalaureate services were held Sunday evening for the Jameson Memorial Hospital school of nursing class, which will be graduated on Friday evening. The service was held in the First Christian church, with a large number of friends and relatives of the graduates in attendance.

While the audience assembled and following the close of the service, Mrs. Richard K. Allen, director of music played a group of special numbers on the organ, and during the evening, special numbers were rendered by the choir, including a solo number by James Bowman, duet by the Misses Pearl and Grace Lipp; and a trio number by Miss Grace Lipp, William McCombs, and James Bowman.

The invocation and benediction were given by Rev. Arthur D. Wenger, associate pastor of the church.

Graduation exercises will take place on Friday evening in the First Christian church, when the address will be given by Rev. Robert H. Mayo.

Rabbits Invade Gardening Lots

MANSFIELD, O., (INS) — A small army of rabbits have moved in on Mansfield and declared an "open season" on backyard vegetable plots and lettuce patches.

Hunters are pleased with the outlook for a banner rabbit hunting season but "city farmers" are puzzled.

Rabbits are easy to shoot . . . but it's against the law to use firearms inside the city limits.

Rabbits are easy to trap . . . but wandering cats and dogs might be caught also.

Rabbits are susceptible to poison . . . but so are dogs and cats.

Meanwhile, the invaders are taking nicely to city life and can be seen almost every night playing on lawns and rummaging in gardens.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12.—(INS)—Some of the biggest wheels in the movie dodge once were labeled "flops."

Many failed to navigate the grade on Broadway. Others wound up with assorted bruises and bumps on their noggin from butting heads against closed Hollywood doors.

Redhaired Lucille Ball, for example, muffed her first three stabs to smash into show business.

New York dramatic teachers flatly informed the gal from Butte, Montana, that she was wasting her dough.

Undaunted, Lucille three times landed jobs in shows—only to be canned before opening evening.

Then she latched onto a soda-jerk chore in a Broadway drug store. From dishing out fudge sundaes she branched into commercial modeling, became renowned as the "Chesterfield Girl" and then Hollywood wiggled a beckoning digit.

Teamed With Hope
The fiery-acting star currently is teamed for a second round with Bob Hope in Paramount's "Fancy Pants."

Betty Hutton missed the boat when she first bravely stormed the Broadway bulwarks as a young singer from Battle Creek, Mich.

Nobody on the hardened artery would give her a hearing, let alone a hand.

When she eventually landed a vocalizing spot with Vincent Lopez' band she proved to be so unsensational that he fired her.

Betty got so sore in her final number she nearly tore down the joint, thereby setting a pattern for the rip-snorting style which became her trademark and open sesame to success.

Today, Betty is thrashing and hoofing with Fred Astaire in the lavish musical, "Let's Dance."

Astaire gets a nostalgic snicker recalling the appraisal written across a report of his first Hollywood screen test!

"Can't act," it read. "Slightly bald. Can dance a little."

Same Treatment
Such gents as John Lund, Van Johnson and Gregory Peck all got the same thumbs-down treatment in their initial efforts to crash showdom.

Alan Ladd, whose fan mail constitutes one of the post office's juiciest sources of stamp sales, flunked his first acting tests. He and a bunch of high school and college kids were enrolled by Universal studio for special training courses.

Ladd was dropped, along with another guy named Tyrone Power, after a few weeks.

Ladd's newest role as the hero of "Postal Inspector" is one of the leading man in Hollywood would covet.

July Egg Production Scrambled By Heat

HARRISBURG—Hot weather of July so reduced the ability of Pennsylvania farm flocks to produce eggs that the output of 216,000,000 was the lowest for July since 1946, the State Department of Agriculture reported today following Federal-State surveys.

Contributing to the reduced supply—and to the accompanying increase in price of eggs—was the early movement of pullets into laying flocks, the study revealed.

The average number of layers on Pennsylvania farms this July was 14,704,000, slightly above July 1948 but two per cent below June of this year. The rate of lay at 14.66 eggs per bird, affected by above normal temperatures, was the lowest since 1940.

July eggs production compares with 236,000,000 for July 1948, and 241,000,000 for June of this year.

BEANS

It takes an expert to name all of the different kinds of beans. There are lima beans and navy beans and kidney beans and string beans.

The coca bean is a very important one in the list of foods. It provides minerals in abundance, especially iron and copper. It is also a good source of protein, starch and fat.

The chemists like to use the word carbohydrate but perhaps that is too big a word for common use. It means starch or sugar to mother when she is figuring on feeding her family.

Cocoa and chocolate are usually listed as luxuries or special treats. Candy is generally considered as sort of an extra.

These foods are eaten by the ton and are very important items in our list of valuable foods.

Although they are so valuable, they should not take the place of other staple foods.

Perhaps it is a good idea for Butch to eat a good dinner of meat, vegetables, fruit, bread and milk, then top off with some candy. He usually wants it the other way but you know Butch.

Busy Scientists

Deal With Odors

ST. LOUIS, (INS)—Some scientists of this atomic age apparently have stepped out of their proverbial ivory tower and walked down a back alley.

The Monsanto Chemical Company of St. Louis reports that its laboratory researchers have discovered a chemical which licks the problem of unpleasant odors in garbage containers. The chemical (orthobenzylparachlorophenol) kills and temporarily prevents the growth of mold and bacteria which cause the odors.

Deaf people can sometimes hear through their teeth.

FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Your school board is one of the most important bodies in the government. The New Castle school budget for the current year is over $1,800,000.

Such expenditures require business judgment along with a sincere regard for the efficiency of our schools.

As a former school teacher I know something of the problem of the class room. As a business woman for many years I know the importance of raising and spending money carefully.

I am a candidate for one of the three Republican nominations for the full term as school director. I will appreciate your vote.

Fire Insurance Rates In State To Be Reduced

State Insurance Department Orders Reductions After Long Study

HARRISBURG, Sept. 12.—(INS)—Fire insurance rates in 55 classes will be reduced October 1 in Pennsylvania at an estimated overall annual saving of $4,000,000-a year to policy holders.

Savings to residential ratepayers will amount to approximately $2,556,000-a year, according to the state insurance department which ordered the reductions following a lengthy study.

Increase in 28 classes will total about $1,077,000 a year. Six classes will be unchanged.

Philadelphia residential ratepayers will be exempted from the new schedules because charges in the city have been low "for many years," said Commissioner James F. Malone, Jr.

He explained a statewide insurance survey disclosed some firms were charging premiums which have been excessive in relation to risks to compensate for hazards in other classes.

Rate Study to Continue
The rate study will continue and may result in further reductions, Malone said.

"We have reached the place where each class of business should pay its own way and not be carried by other profitable classes," said Malone. "In other words, home owners should not, and will not be in the future, compelled to carry the load for the more hazardous risks."

Malone listed the following reductions: frame protected, 20 per cent; brick protected, 10 per cent; brick and frame protected, 25 per cent, and fire resistant, 10 per cent.

Rates applicable to farms will not be changed.

The new schedules, ordered after a study of premiums charged during the past five years, will effect rates of 281 stock fire insurance companies and 80 mutual fire insurance firms which are members of the middle department Association of Fire Underwriters.

Malone said he had fixed the effective date under a provision or the rate regulatory act of 1947. Otherwise, a 30-day waiting period would have been required.

He said he realized the new schedules are "not perfect in every detail" because rate fixing cannot be reduced to an exact science due to unforeseeable hazards.

Appreciate Aid In Polio Battle

Response To Appeal For Emergency Funds Is Most Gratifying

Appreciation to all whose efforts and dollars contributed to the success of this community's polio epidemic emergency drive was expressed today by William R. Hanna, chairman of the Lawrence county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

"The true thanks comes, of course, from the youngsters whose recovery will be speeded by the funds we have made available this week," he said.

The drive came to an official close today. In every county through the nation, similar one-week drives have been held in response to the nation-wide appeal made by Basil O'Connor, National Foundation president, for additional funds to continue financial aid to increased numbers of polio patients without slowing up scientific research and professional education.

"We cannot announce a total for the sums collected in this community," Mr. Hanna said. "Many of our people have sent their contributions directly to POLIO, care of our post office, as newspaper appeals and radio broadcasts have urged. We will never know the size of the contribution provided by this community. We can only hope it will loom large in the total amount raised by our state. This will be announced as soon as the money is received and totaled at national headquarters."

In an effort to conserve funds and hold expenses down to an utter minimum, no letters of acknowledgement or thanks will be sent by either the local chapter or national headquarters. Mr. Hanna explained. "There wasn't time, or money, to set up a special organization for this emergency drive," he said. "I'm sure everyone will understand. We do not want to incur any expense that would divert funds from the specific purpose for which they were raised—namely, help for our stricken children."

Although the drive ended officially today, anyone who has not yet contributed was urged by Mr. Hanna to mail his donation directly to POLIO, care of the local post office.

"Contributions by mail will be accepted gratefully just as long as they keep coming," he said.

A 10 YEAR RECORD OF PROGRESS WONDER BREAD IMPROVED 33%

In the Milk Protein Factor To Help Children Grow Bigger and Stronger 8 Ways

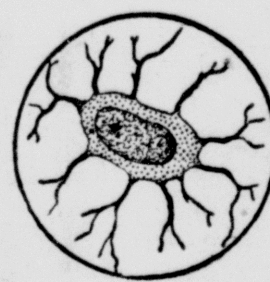

"PROTEIN—THE KEY TO LIFE AND GROWTH"

THE FATE OF THESE 4 CELLS IS OFTEN THE FATE OF THE ENTIRE HUMAN BODY!

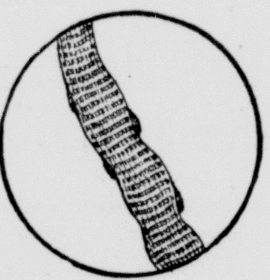

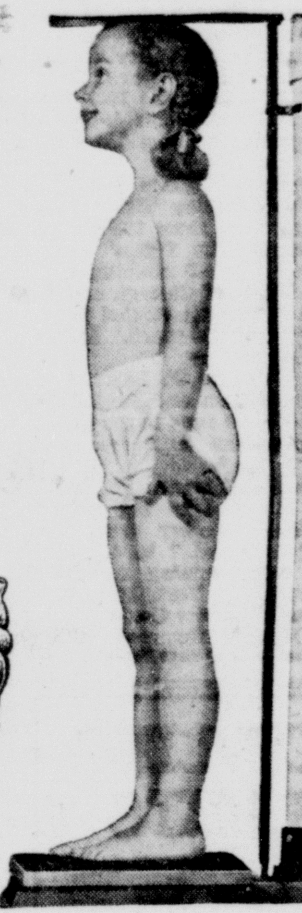

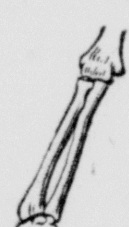

BRAIN CELL AND BRAIN

One of the 6 types of cells in cerebral cortex of the brain... which contains a total of some 15 billion cells. A principal factor in cell life and development is protein. Thus, in life, nothing is more important than the quality of the food we eat.

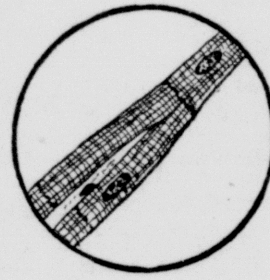

BONE CELL AND BONE

The skeleton has 222 bones. Each is made up of cells... some living, some petrified cells. Human bone can carry 30 times as much weight as brick; 3 times more than granite! Shin bone is strongest of all—it can support a load of 3600 pounds!

MUSCLE CELL AND MUSCLE

639 separate muscles contain some 6,000,000,000 muscle cells—not half the number of the "thinking" brain. Each muscle cell has some 400 fibrils. Each fibril bundle can "lift" 1/1,000,000th ounce; a muscle one-third inch thick from 58 to 140 pounds. Tongue muscles are fastest—25 movements per second!

HEART CELL AND HEART

The human heartbeat cycle lasts about .8 second. 100,000 beats a day pump 10,567 quarts of blood! The heart rests between beats—a total time of 12 hours a day—about 35 years in a lifetime. The heart develops about 1/240 horsepower. Yet it outwears by years the most perfect auto!

Serve Wonder Bread To Help Your Child Grow Bigger and Stronger 8 Ways

Note How Amazing Wonder Bread Compares With Meat, Milk, and Fish In Certain Growth And Energy-Building Contents (as stated in chart)

2 Slices a Meal and a Sandwich Daily Supply: 	1 MUSCLE. As Much Protein as a Serving of Roast Sirloin of Beef. 	2 BONES & TEETH. As Much Calcium for Bones and Teeth as Contained in a Helping of Cottage Cheese.
3 BODY CELLS. As Much Phosphorus for Cell Metabolism as 1 Egg. 	4 BLOOD. As Much Iron for Rich Red Blood as Found in 3 Lamb Chops. 	5 APPETITE. As Much Vitamin B, to Help Maintain Appetite as Supplied by a Serving of Fried Liver.
6 GROWTH. As Much Vitamin B, for Growth Processes as 3 Slices of Yellow American Cheese. 	7 BRAIN. As Much Niacin to Help Maintain Mental Health as 6 Sardines. 	8 ENERGY. As Much Energy for Work and Play as 2 Glasses of Milk.

TO DOCTORS: Evidence Supporting Statements Above Sent Upon Request on Your Letterhead.

Without protein no child can grow in body or brain. Growing children need TWICE the protein per pound of body weight as grownups.

These foods are good for protein: Meat, Milk, Fish, Eggs, Nuts, and Wonder Bread.

Penny for penny, Wonder Bread gives your child 46% more body-building protein than the average of meat, milk, fish and eggs.

Good For Energy

Without energy no child can work, study or play. Wonder Bread is a substantial energy food.

Then, too, Wonder Bread is more quickly converted into energy than fat. And, of course, is better in protein for child growth.

Helps Build Strong Bodies 8 Ways

The chart shows the 8 body and brain-building properties of Wonder Bread. Serve Wonder Bread together with fruits, vegetables, meat, milk, fish and eggs in a well-balanced diet. Give your child every chance to build body and brain. 8 ounces of Wonder Bread for a growing child cost less than a dime a day. Certainly you can afford Wonder Bread for your child.

Doubly Fresh

Children love Wonder Bread. Plain or toasted. Because Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it; fresh when you eat it. Because slo-baked—13% longer than many ordinary kinds for lasting freshness.

Yankees Gain Two Games In American; Cards Pick Up Half Game

Bosox Thumped Twice By Macks

Kiner Hits Pair Of Circuit Clouts As Pirates Break Losing Streak

By JOHN BARRINGTON
(International News Service Staff Writer)
NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The American league's tightly knit pennant race seems suddenly to have come unraveled.
The pace-setting New York Yankees grabbed a comfortable-looking three-game lead yesterday by sweeping a double header from Washington, 20 to 5 and 2 to 1. They gained two full games on the challenging Boston Red Sox, who were surprised twice by the unpredictable Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 4 and 4 to 0.
Thus, the New Yorkers face the final invasion of the western clubs—following today's open date all around the circuit.

Significantly, the Red Sox have lost five more games than the Yankees. Figure filberts generally maintain it's the games in the lost column that are hardest to make up.

Walking Record
The Yankees gained their first win yesterday on 17 hits and 17 walks, one below the major league record for passes. They scored 12 times in the third on 11 walks, a one-inning record.
Allie Reynolds easily achieved his 16th victory, shutting out the Nats for seven innings. Frank Shea tested his ailing arm in the last two frames and gave up all the Washington runs.

The nightcap was halted by darkness in the sixth just after relief ace Joe Page had been rushed in to stymie a Washington threat and save the game.
Boston not only was beaten twice by a team it had licked 14 out of 19 times previously, but Carl Scheib held the Red Sox to two hits in the second game.

The Athletics made five double plays to tie the major league record of 198 set by the 1945 Red Sox. Sam Chapman hit a homer in each game, bringing his total to 22.

Tigers Claw White Sox
Detroit's onrushing Tigers took third place away from the Cleveland Indians. The Tigers' Virgil Trucks won a 1-to-0 pitching duel from Bill Wigot of Chicago as battery mate Bob Swift singled home the lone run in the ninth. It was Trucks' 17th victory.

Cleveland lost to St. Louis, 5 to 4, as Jack Graham and Paul Lehner hoisted home runs in the sixth, the latter coming with two men on base.

In the National league, St. Louis increased its lead to 1½ games with a double victory over Cincinnati, 7 to 5 and 7 to 4, while Brooklyn was winning a single contest from New York, 10 to 5.

Indies Drop Two At Youngstown

Eliminated From National Tournament As Result Of Saturday And Sunday Losses

City baseball league champions, Lawrence Indians, were eliminated from the National Amateur Baseball Federation tournament over the week end at Youngstown.

The local nine dropped a 4-to-2 decision to the Akron Sheriffs Saturday night and the Royal Oak, Mich., entry blasted an 11-to-6 win yesterday.

In the second contest the Indians were leading, 4 to 1, going into the fifth inning when the roof caved in on Bo Smiley and his relief, Monk Rainey. Third baseman Jim Mossely banged two home runs in yesterday's nine-hit attack.

Mo Mrozek, Indies first sacker, was hit by a pitcher ball and is confined to a Youngstown hospital for observation.

The Indians will now resume their championship series with Bessemer of the Lawrence county baseball title.

Hope To Organize Sandlot Elevens

Persons interested in the organization of a sandlot football league to feature grids next season will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the YM according to Nick George. There is plenty of interest among various sandlot teams and it is hoped to form a six or eight eleven circuit. Forest A. C., Pearson A. C., Mustangs, Whamrocks and South Side are teams interested in the venture.

Bessemer Trips Ecclesiastical 5-4

Bessemer, Lawrence county baseball loop winners, turned back the Ecclesiastical club of the City league, 5 to 4, yesterday afternoon at Bessemer.
Curly Anderson singled with one man out in the last of the ninth to score Pello from second and break up a 4-4 ball game.
August Anderson was the winning hurler and Dick Orlando is checked with the loss.

Frank Presnar goes over for a touchdown for Union high school in the first period of their game with Darlington Saturday night after a beautiful 22-yard run. Darlington man laying on the ground just missed the tackle. The score never went into the records, however, being nullified by a clipping penalty.

Ellwood Defeated 7-6 In 1949 Grid Opener

Ellwood City high school dropped a tough one Saturday night to Erie Strong Vincent, 7 to 6, in the 1949 opener for both schools at Erie.

Over 4,000 fans, nearly half of them from Ellwood City, were on hand to celebrate the 20th anniversary of Erie Strong Vincent high school, the 25th anniversary of the 1925 Wolverines, WPIAL champs, and to see one of the finest football games in many a year.

Ellwood scored in the first period on a 27-yard pass from Tony DeCaria to left end Carl Mantz, who caught it on the five and raced over for the score. Mantz missed the conversion attempt.
Erie registered in the third period after a sustained drive down the field. Hubert Shaw passed to left end Tom Buel for the touchdown and Bob Bierig plunged over for the deciding point of the game.

Ellwood Outgains Erie
Ellwood outgained Erie, 218 yards to 112 and had an edge in first downs, 11 to seven, but couldn't get going when they were deep in Erie territory.
A parade and attractive program were presented before the game, with 17 members of the 1925 Blue and White squad, and Sam Kramer, coach on that team and present coach of Strong Vincent, being honored.

Erie Tech comes to Ellwood City for the Wolverines' home opener next Friday night.

Union Rolls Over Darlington, 33-6 In Opening Game

Glen Hedrick Scores Twice, Passes For One Touchdown In Saturday Game

Union high school opened its 1949 grid season Saturday night with a 33-to-6 victory over a weak Darlington team at Union high field.

The Scotland Laners had too much power for the under-manned team from Darlington and presented head coach Jack Schantz with a well deserved victory in his first game as a high school coach.
A crew of fast backs, operating out of the T-formation, and a light but well balanced line, proved Union's superiority early in the game.

A pass from Glen Hedrick to Len McLaughan that covered 45 yards opened the scoring for Union early in the first period. Hedrick scored the second touchdown on the second play of the second period when he started through tackle, cut around end and raced 10 yards through the Darlington secondary for paydirt.

Hritz Scores
Union added another touchdown late in the second period when Joe Hritz went around right end for 22 yards.

Glen Hedrick went over again early in the third period when he started from left tackle and out-paced the entire Darlington secondary for 45 yards. Klenotic scored the final touchdown for Union late in the third period when he took a lateral from Dickie Jenkins and went around right end for three yards.

The only score of the game for Darlington came near the end of the third period when Casey intercepted a Union pass and raced 75 yards for a touchdown.
Casey played a good game, both offensively and defensively, for Darlington and was about their only bright spot of the evening.

Union's line, led by captain Lynn Fowler, held their opponents to a minus 24 yards on the ground.

Frank Presnar converted three extra points out of five attempts and played a good game while he was in the lineup.

Threaten Holland With Suspension

Misunderstanding Causes Dispute Between Promoter And Ace Driver

READING, Pa., Sept. 12.—(INS)—Bill Holland, Reading racing ace and 1949 winner of the 500-mile Memorial Day classic at Indianapolis, marked time today in a dispute with a Syracuse, N. Y., promoter who has threatened him with a year's suspension.
The promoter, Ira Val, claimed Holland had filed an entry for a 100-mile race at Syracuse, but the Reading speedster said it was "an outgrowth of a misunderstanding."

"Originally," Holland said, "I agreed on a deal for my appearance there. Later he notified me that he would not pay me the price which he had agreed to pay. I called him long distance at my own expense notifying him that I would not bother unless the original deal was paid."

HOME SWEET HOME

Footballers are filling the air once more, and except for the major leagues and playoff tournaments, "Old Man Baseball" is just about washed up for the year.

It's been a week now since the end of Middle Atlantic league play and members of the New Castle Nats should be resting comfortably in their homes in various sections of the country, after a strenuous, if not too successful, season.

A trackdown on the destinations of the players finds Mike Gipp in Milwaukee, Wis.; Herby Churchill in Gloucester, Mass.; Hilly Shapiro in Brooklyn, N. Y.; Frank Wagner in Buffalo, N. Y.; Bill Torrey in Washington, D. C.; Reed Maier in Arlington, Va., and Herman Kiel in Vandergrift.

Bob Cook has returned to his home in Warren, O.; Joe Karakul to his bar in Cleveland; Mike Giardulla to Cincinnati, O.; Ty Corbett to Ambridge; Tommy Millich to Bellevue, Pa., and Manager Billy Mongiello and Paul Ganemio to Erie.

Gene Bilo only needed a short hop to reach his home in Ellwood City while Felix Buchioni needed but a city bus fare.

Some Won't Be Back
Many of these ball players have left the city for good and will do their playing in other cities in the years to come. Some will probably be dropped by the club, some will probably advance to higher leagues, while the futures of many will rest with the fate of the New Castle ball club.

At the present question of whether the team will remain in the city next year or not is undecided. All indications point, however, toward another whirl at Flattery field.

Though this season was not a success from a financial standpoint or from a playing standpoint, the fans were treated to some good baseball at times, with some fine players participating. Lack of consistent pitching and some pretty erratic fielding at times kept the Nats well down in the standings.

Some of the bright points of the season were the pitching of veteran Frank Wagner, who won 19 games with a last place club, who exploded 29 home runs and the fine all-around play of Reed Maier, young infielder.

The improvement shown in the play of Eugene Bilo and Bill Torrey and the occasional bursts of ability by the rest of the players made the games interesting to those loyal followers of the team.

New Castle Moose Defeat Brownsville

Headland Pitches One-Hitter In First Game Of Moose Championship Series

New Castle Moose handed the Brownsville Moose an 8-to-0 setback Sunday afternoon at New Castle in the first game of a three-game series for the state Moose championship.

Headland pitched for the New Castle Moose and shut out the Brownsville team for the first time in 54 games this season. He was helped out considerably by the all-around fine play of the local team.

DeVitto was the big gun for the Croton district team, driving in four runs.
New Castle Moose didn't know until Sunday noon that the Brownsville team was coming for an afternoon game, and then went out and played one of their best games of the year.

Second game of the series will be played next Sunday afternoon at Brownsville.

Alco Golfers Stage Tourney

Third Annual Event Held At Sylvan Heights Course Here On Sunday

Aluminum Company of America golfers, mostly from New Kensington main plant, staged their third annual tournament at the Sylvan Heights course here on Sunday, with 114 golfers taking part.

Charles Chalco was the winner with a snappy 73, one over par. Other low scorers included F. Lipski, 78; G. George, D. Kunse, and W. Askiniewicz with 79's; and T. Fullerton and B. Watt, with 81's.
The handicap event, three-quarter Bobby Jones, was won by J. Frash with a net of 64, followed by V. Machuga with a 66, and W. Askiniewicz with 67.

Young Chips Close
In the chipping contest, Red Young was declared the winner, his chip shot to the appointed green, being but three inches from the cup. F. Lipski had the longest drive, a 287-yard smash on No. 9 hole.

The tournament was in charge of the committee composed of Jim Black, Vic Bolt, Bob Johnson, Red Young, H. Illig, George Sencclair, Art Runco and Rodney Nery.
The visitors were well pleased with the arrangements made by Manager Sam Haycock, and voted to return here next year for the 4th annual event. They were also loud in their praise of the condition of the municipal course.

Umpires And Managers Tie

North County loop managers and umpires again tied 7-7 at Volant, Saturday, which was a benefit for Umpire Ferucci who was injured in the first game of the series. Morrell, Rotunno and Irwin hit heavy for the Umpires while Wagner, Serwatka and Young hit good for the Managers. The umpires would like to play a game composed of City and Lawrence county league managers.

FOUR wrestling matches will be staged by the Lions club at Lincoln high school stadium, Ellwood City, at 8:30 p. m. tonight. Chief Don Eagle takes on Fred Bozic in the main exhibition. Paul Stanlee, Tommy Martindale, Jack Vansky and Jack Steele show in an Australian tag match, and the exhibitions will be opened by Billy Weidner and Shiek Lawrence. Bobby Neal of Beaver Falls battles Eddie Bell at Canton, O., September 28. Neal defeated Bell in a former bout. The score between Frankie Moran and Bell, is one and one, Moran having won the last fight at Ellwood City. There should be a good crowd at the third game between Bessemer and the Lawrence Independents, the series standing one and one. Several scouts are watching some of the players in the Bessemer Indies series. Bill McPeak, former Pitt star, now a grinder for the Pittsburgh Steelers, is on the injured list. Members of the party of nine which is journeying to fish and hunt along the Clacac highway, Alaska, have promised to send a day-by-day account to Here & There. Ellwood City Rod & Gun club will hold their September meeting at eight o'clock, tonight at their club-house along the Ellwood City-Wampum highway. The bluegill is a school fish, hence it is reasonable to believe that when one is caught, others are around. Wes Davy has returned from a trip to the gold mining, Cobalt district, Canada. He did not fish while north of the boundary line.

State Police have reported they will help game protectors in a general drive to break up a gang of "deer poachers" who are slaughtering deer on a large scale near Kane. According to game protectors, high powered rifles are being used to kill herds of deer "almost every night"—many times right at the edge of the borough. They said one herd of deer which had three bucks, two does and a spotted fawn has been reduced to one buck. "Deer poachers" often go into the fields at night to kill deer for market. Damage done to several farms caused the farmers to post their lands. They said they will enforce the bans through the regular hunting season this year.

Graziano To Box Fusari Wednesday

SUMMIT, N. J., Sept. 12.—(INS)—Former Middleweight Champion Rocky Graziano broke camp today as he completed training for Wednesday's fight at the Polo grounds against Charley Fusari. Graziano boxed four rounds yesterday, bringing his total sparring activity to 89 rounds. He weighed 158½ after his drill and said he expects to enter the ring at 158.

Tapers Training
POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Sept. 12.—Charley Fusari, Irvington, N. J. slugger, who meets Rocky Graziano on Wednesday night, tapered off in his training today. Fusari boxed four fast rounds yesterday to bring his total preparation for the fight to 33 rounds in the ring.

OFFER "SUGAR" BOUT
CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—(INS)—Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begum said today they will offer Welterweight Champion Ray Robinson $50,000 to defend his title against Johnny Bratton if the Chicagoan defeats Chuck Taylor next Thursday.

Erie-Johnstown Play Sixth Game

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 12.—(INS)—Johnstown's faltering Johnnies, who need only one victory to claim the Middle Atlantic League championship, take on the Erie Sailors at Point Stadium tonight. If Erie wins tonight, however, a seventh game will be played at site to be determined by a flip of a coin. The Sailors rebounded yesterday in Erie by scoring 13 runs on 14 hits for a 13-4 victory, their second in the seven-game playoff series.

Athletics Can Set Double Play Mark

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—(INS)—Come Tuesday night, the Athletics hope to set a new major league record for double plays. The Mackmen equalled the present mark of 198 in a season in the second game of a twinbill with the Boston Red Sox yesterday. With 16 games remaining on their 1949 schedule, the Athletics can set a twin-killing record that may stand for decades. The Red Sox established the current mark in 1945.

Grand Rush Tuesday
And Tuesday Night

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

They can start the primary election any time now. Will A. Eakin, chief clerk to the election board, has everything in readiness. Kits are with the election boards and Mr. Eakin awaits the long night vigil of Tuesday night.

Judges W. Walter Brahan and John G. Lamoree will sit from 8 in the morning until 9 at night to settle any election disputes with one taking the early shift and the other the late shift.

Polls open at 8 o'clock EDT and close at 9 p. m. EDT. Immediately upon the completion of the returns by the various election boards, the boxes and returns are to be taken to the court house.

Election business had first place today in the court house. While the grand jury was meeting, election business was still the most talked of and will be until sometime Wednesday.

LAWRENCE HOME—NO FISH

It seems to be getting a habit with county officials and attaches to go to Canada and come home without any fish. Deputy County Controller George E. Lawrence is the latest one to join the fishless lodge. Lawrence is home, had a good time and claims he was on a fishing trip.
